You will be required to sign an indemnity form which includes certain guidelines while out on horseback. You must be fully aware and understand that there are risks involved when around horses, in riding generally, and in visiting and staying in areas in Africa due to the presence of wild animals. By signing our indemnity form you are confirming that you are riding on our safaris entirely at your own risk and that you have adequate insurance for all eventualities (ensure your insurance policy covers riding and medical evacuation).
It is compulsory to wear a riding helmet and although we have a selection of sizes, we do recommend that if you have your own well fitted hat to bring it with you
If you plan to spend many hours in the saddle, we recommend that you do some riding prior to your visit, in order to avoid aching muscles.

Both Mclellan and English saddles are available and each guest will receive a water bottle which fits into a bottle holder attached to the saddle. We do recommend bringing bum bags to carry items such as phones and cameras.
A list of recommended clothing and other items to bring can be found on our information page.

Guests do not need to be able to ride to go out on our riding safaris. Our herd of over 90 horses allows us to cater for all levels of riders.
Our rides operate to a maximum of 6 riders and 2 guides to ensure guests' safety and for a more controlled ride. Riders of different abilities will not be put on the same ride unless they are part of the same family/group and wish to do so. Riding hats are compulsory for all riders. We do stock a selection of sizes but we recommend if you have your own well fitted hat to bring it with you. Our weight limit is 120kg.
